MOON WALKERS LAND SAFELY

Official Says:

Kennedy Case Not Over Yet

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The investigation into Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's auto accident "isn't completed—not by a long shot," a Registry of Motor Vehicles supervisor says.

The supervisor, George W. Kennedy, no relation to the senator, commented Wednesday after the state agency announced in Boston it had suspended the senator's driver's license because of the accident.

Registry officials noted temporary suspension of a license is "fairly routine in cases involving a fatality."

The suspension was based on a preliminary finding that the 37-year-old Massachusetts Democrat was at "fault" in the accident, which claimed the life of a young Washington secretary. Kennedy has been charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

"There are a lot of things still to be done," George Kennedy said. "It might be a week before a full report is ready. We are going to have to ask a lot of questions before we get what we want."

Hearing Monday
Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, a secretary to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., died in the accident.

The registry said suspension of the senator's license will remain in effect until a formal hearing is conducted.

"If the hearing results in a finding of no serious fault on Sen. Kennedy's part," the registry said, "his driver's license will be reinstated. If the hearing results in a finding of serious fault, the license suspension will be changed to a revocation, which must by law remain in effect for six months."

No date has been set for the license session, but a court hearing is to be held here Monday on the complaint accusing Kennedy of leaving the accident scene.

Its purpose will be to determine whether a summons should be issued against Kennedy, bringing him to trial.

Prove Whereabouts
The senator, widely viewed as prime 1972 Democratic presidential timber, didn't go to the police until almost 10 a.m. Saturday, nine or 10 hours after the accident.

Edgartown Police Chief Dominic C. Arena said he wants to find out what happened in the time between the accident and the time Kennedy reported it.

"He's going to have to prove where he was between 1 and 9," Arena told newsmen Wednesday.

"We are satisfied that the accident is an accident," the chief continued. "What happened afterward is the reason for the (leaving the scene) complaint."

Arena said he wanted particularly to talk with the persons who were reported to have attended a party with Kennedy and Miss Kopechne on Chappaquiddick prior to the accident.

None of these other persons "has been seen since the day of the accident," Arena said. "They all left the island."

Kennedy remained in seclusion Wednesday at his home on Squaw Island, near the Kennedy family compound in Hyannis Port.

Attend Party

He said Tuesday when he returned from Miss Kopechne's funeral in Pennsylvania that he would make a statement "at the appropriate time." So far he has not made one.

Kennedy was reported earlier to have decided against making a statement.

Ten persons—five men and five women—are said to have been at the party besides Kennedy and Miss Kopechne.

The men have been identified as Joseph F. Gargan, first cousin-in-law and close personal friend of Kennedy and the man who rented the cottage where the party was held; Paul Markham, former U.S. attorney for Massachusetts and another close Kennedy friend; Ray LaRosa and Charles Treiter, who, with the other three, had crewed Kennedy's boat in a yacht race earlier Friday off Edgartown; and John Crummons, Kennedy's driver.

The women are said to have been Misses Esther Newberg, Nance Lyons, Kennedy's secretary; her sister, Mary Ellen; Rosemary Keogh; and Susan Tennenbaum.

Wealthy Pay In Tax Reform Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House tax reformers have fashioned a provision that would make it impossible for wealthy individuals to avoid income taxes entirely through tax-free investments or special loss and deduction allowances.

Under the proposal tentatively adopted by the House Ways and Means Committee, everyone would pay taxes on at least half his income.

The Treasury, by rough estimates, would pick up a minimum $200 million a year in additional taxes.

The provision is based on a proposal the Nixon administration called "limit on tax preferences," but it goes farther.

President Nixon proposed taxing some income now exempted because of allowances for accelerated depreciation on real estate, certain farm losses, intangible drilling expenses in the oil industry, and charitable contributions of property that has gained in value.

In addition to using these tax preferences in figuring a minimum income tax, the committee proposal would include interest on municipal bonds and the untaxed one-half of capital gains.

A taxpayer who had more than half his income in such preferences would have to show them all in his return.

Then, for example, if a taxpayer had $100,000 in ordinary income and $200,000 in preferences, he would add them up and be taxed on half the sum—$150,000. Under present law he would be taxed only on the $100,000 ordinary income.

Tax preferences, however, would not be reduced under $10,000 for anyone.

The committee also agreed tentatively on tighter rules on gifts of property that appreciate in value while held by the donor.

Nixon Arrives For Ringside Seat On Hornet

ABOARD USS ARLINGTON — (AP) — President Nixon, convinced the Apollo 11 moon mission boosted spirits all over the world, was en route today to a ringside seat for the return to earth of the trail-blazing astronauts.

Before leaving San Francisco Wednesday afternoon, Nixon told a street crowd of several thousand that the moon landing of Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. generated a burst of good will around the globe.

The chief executive hopes to capitalize on that good will as he visits five South Asian nations, Communist Romania and Britain during the next 11 days.

Nixon flew Wednesday from San Francisco to Johnston Island, an American atoll 1,200 miles from Honolulu which he last visited 25 years ago while en route home from wartime Navy service in the South Pacific.

From the atoll, a Marine helicopter took the President to the Apollo recovery fleet maneuvering in mid-Pacific some 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii. He spent the night aboard the Arlington, a 19,600-ton communications ship.

Nixon was to be called before dawn for a 15-minute helicopter flight to the aircraft carrier Hornet. There, after breakfast with the captain, he will watch the splashdown from the flag bridge.

Nixon expressed confidence the moon mission would have a happy ending, with Armstrong, Aldrin and command module pilot Michael Collins snugly settled inside a sealed chamber aboard the Hornet.

Space Chicken Near Impossible

EAST LANSING (AP) — People and monkeys may make it in outer space—but a chicken would lay an egg as an astronaut.

So say Michigan State University poultry experts who point to the problems of gravity and gurgling down food.

"A chicken takes a gulp of water in its bill, holds its head up in the air and allows the water to run down its throat," explains Dr. Howard Zindel, chairman of the MSU poultry science department.

"It has no swallowing mechanism, like people. It couldn't survive by itself unless you forced it," Zindel said.

"I don't think a chicken could go into space and live for very long."

Mental Patient Arrested

Fremont Girl Found Safe In Marquette

MARQUETTE (AP) — A 12-year-old Fremont girl — missing since Saturday — was found safe and unharmed and an 18-year-old mental patient was arrested Wednesday night after a high speed automobile chase by police.

The girl, Cindy Hayward, said she had not been mistreated, although she had been taken into the car at gunpoint, said Marquette Police Capt. Woodrow Betts.

A pellet gun was found in the car, he added.

The capture — credited to an alert Marquette policeman — ended one of the most intensive manhunt in northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

Leonard Huggall, 18, of Fremont, was held on a temporary charge of careless driving, police said. Authorities said he had been home in Fremont last weekend on a convalescent leave from Traverse City State Hospital.

Note License
Patrolman Thomas Knapp said he and his partner Cpl. Curtis Wolf, were in a patrol car at a red light when the auto pulled alongside with the youth and the girl. Knapp saw it had the license number — which State Police had put out an alert on.

After letting the vehicle pass, the police pursued at speeds es-

The suits will be given to the astronauts through the spacecraft's hatch, when it is opened for less than 30 seconds. After the astronauts have donned the suits, the hatch will be reopened for five minutes to let them out. The trio will complete the 71-day quarantine, which began Monday, at a germ-free lunar receiving laboratory at Manned Spacecraft Center. (NASA Photo via AP Wirephoto)

Apollo 13 Seeks Rougher Regions

SPACE CENTER, Houston — (AP) — Astronauts aboard America's next moon-landing adventure, Apollo 12, plan to walk on the lunar surface twice as long as the Apollo 11 explorers. But they won't leave earth before Nov. 10 and may not go until January.

Later flights, probably beginning with Apollo 13, will take astronauts to rougher mountain regions as part of a four-year program of exploring the moon.

While a final decision has not been made, Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director, said Apollo 12 probably will try to land on a relatively flat plain in the western half of the moon near the lunar equator.

Apollo 11's landing site in the Sea of Tranquility was also on the moon's equator, but in the east-central section of the moon's visible face.

Analyze Rocks

Apollo 12 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., 38; Richard F. Gordon Jr., 39; and Alan L. Bean, 37, are tentatively scheduled to blast off sometime between Nov. 10 and Nov. 17. But last April, Dr. Wilmut Hess, chief scientist at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, recommended that six months elapse between Apollo flights after the first lunar landing so scientists have more time to analyze rocks and photographs returned from a previous mission.

They could then apply this knowledge to the next flight, Hess said, giving scientists a better idea of what astronauts should look for to get the most out of the mission.

While Gordon remains in lunar orbit taking care of the command ship, Conrad and Bean are to take two excursions outside the lunar module (LM) for a total of more than five hours. Neil A. Armstrong walked on the moon 2 hours 14 minutes, while Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. spent 1 hour 44 minutes outside.

Because of the ease with which the Apollo 11 explorers loped around the lunar surface, however, Conrad and Bean may be allowed to stay out longer.

Crew Taken By Helicopter To Air-Tight Van

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — The Apollo 11 spaceship, carrying the first men to walk the surface of the moon, splashed down today into the Pacific Ocean where their President awaited them.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins hit the water after a blazing re-entry into the atmosphere. During the re-entry, which started with the ship going 24,600 miles an hour, the temperature on the heat shield of the capsule reached 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

They were to be taken from the capsule by helicopter and brought to an air-tight silver trailer on board the aircraft carrier Hornet.

The landing target was shifted from 250 miles to the east Wednesday night when the weatherman forecast thunderstorms for the original touchdown point. The new target, for which the astronauts had to shift slightly the angle of their ship on re-entry into earth's atmosphere, was 950 miles southwest of Hawaii.

The landing was to be the triumphant end to a momentous eight days—eight days in which man reached out and touched the moon.

But, the Apollo 11 astronauts will be treated more like lepers than conquerors.

President Nixon will be on the recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Hornet. But he won't shake their hands. A strangely garbed frogman will greet them, not with a cheery "well done," but with a set of three biological suits and a can of disinfectant, with which he'll spray them.

On the carrier they'll be slapped into an air-tight trailer which will be their home for a 2½-day sea-air trip to Houston, Tex., where they'll be isolated another 16 days.

These precautions are insurance against the remote chance the astronauts or the moon rocks they brought back harbor lunar bacteria that might harm life on earth.

President Nixon will observe the recovery operation from the bridge of the Hornet. Once the astronauts are in the trailer, he'll view them through a window and speak with them over a plugged-in telephone.

Final Show

As their eight-day journey of discovery neared an end, Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins beamed a final television show to earth Wednesday night. In a moving 12 minutes, they thanked God and all the people on earth who made their trip possible.

Commander Armstrong, the first man to step on the moon, said: "The responsibility for this flight lies first with history and with the giants of science who preceded this effort."

"Next, to the American people who have through their will indicated their desire. Next the four administrations and their congresses, for implementing that will."

"And then to the agency and the industry team that built our spacecraft, the Saturn, the Columbia, the Eagle and the EMU—the spacesuit and backpack that was our small spacecraft out on the lunar surface."

Aldrin, who strode the lunar surface with Armstrong, said: "We've come to the conclusion that this has been far more than three men on a voyage for the moon.... We feel this stands as a symbol of the insatiable curiosity of all mankind to explore the unknown.... We accepted this challenge of going to the moon. The acceptance of this challenge was inevitable."

Quotes Bible

Aldrin said the flight brought to mind a song of praise from the Eighth Psalm of the Bible: "When I consider Thy heavens, the work of Thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which Thou hast ordained, what is man that Thou art mindful of him?"

Collins thanked the vast government-industry-military team and said: "This operation is somewhat like the periscope of a submarine. All you see is the three of us, but beneath the surface are thousands and thousands of others."

Viet Casualties Up 23 Per Cent

SAIGON (AP) — Despite a five-week lull in sustained ground action across South Vietnam, American battlefield deaths last week increased 23 per cent over the total the previous week, the U.S. Command reported today.

The weekly casualty summary said 182 Americans were killed in action last week compared with 148 the week before.

The toll for the week that ended at midnight last Saturday was the highest since June 22-28, when 241 U.S. troops were killed. But it was 23 per cent below the weekly average this year of 235 deaths.

Headquarters also reported that 1,405 U.S. troops were wounded last week, down from 1,612 the week before.

Although the number of American battle dead increased last week, those of South Vietnamese government forces and of the enemy were less than the week before.

A U.S. spokesman said many of the Americans killed last week died in small unit actions or as a result of booby traps. U.S. sources said that despite an absence of large-scale fighting, small-unit contacts involving anywhere from a company of 100 men to a squad of 10 have been averaging about 60 per day for most of the last two weeks.

Police Follow Mystic's Leads

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dutch psychic Peter Hurkos toured the murder sites Wednesday of three of the seven young women slain in the Ann Arbor - Ypsilanti area in the last two years, apparently impressing the three officers who accompanied him.

He described the positions of the bodies when they were found and how the three girls were killed. His statements agreed with police reports, much of that information has been published in newspapers and other media.

Police said they are following up leads given by Hurkos, although none has supplied any hard information yet.

Hurkos' earlier statement that he had a line on the killer was reversed.

"We felt would put this information together today, but our suspect got away," said Ed Silver, Hurkos' assistant.

"What I mean is, everything applied, but Peter felt he was not the man."

They said they thought they had the murderer of Dawn Bason, 13, of Ypsilanti, found strangled last April.

Hurkos said the Ann Arbor police are giving him more cooperation than he received from the Boston Strangler case a few years ago.

Current indications are that Hurkos will return to Los Angeles, where he does a nightclub act, by the end of the week, although he said Wednesday he would stay until a killer was apprehended.

Circuit Court proceedings begin Friday for Ernest Bishop of Ann Arbor who was charged with the murder of the most recent of the seven victims. Police say there are no indications Bishop had anything to do with the previous slayings.

Open House Set At Brookridge

MARQUETTE—Open house is scheduled Sunday afternoon at Brookridge, residential treatment center for children with emotional problems from Marquette, Alger and Delta counties.

Located on Division St. near Marquette's south city limits, the structure has been the scene of extensive remodeling in recent months in preparation for next week's official opening.

Dr. Jane E. Chapman, program director for Brookridge, said the first four children will arrive at the center Tuesday and four more the following day. When the treatment center is fully operational, it will accommodate 15 emotionally disturbed youngsters.

A staff of 15 will operate Brookridge. They range from live-in houseparents, cooks and custodians to counselors, teachers, psychiatric and medical consultants.

Sunday's open house will begin at 1 p. m. and continue throughout the afternoon. Refreshments will be served.

In preparation for the event and the official opening, employees and volunteers have been busy this week with final projects. Carpeting was being installed, curtains and drapes hung and brightly-painted child-size furniture put in place.

Brookridge is a program of the Community Mental Health Center Compact which maintains offices in Marquette and Escanaba. It is funded partially by the state and is supervised by the Act 54 board which has responsibility for administering various mental health programs in the three counties.

Offering both short term and long-term residential care for emotionally-disturbed children, the facility is one of only three in Michigan and the only one in the Upper Peninsula.

Lundy, a British Isle, has been given to Britain's National Trust as a coastal nature preserve. The island, known as Puffin Island in the tongue of the Vikings, measures three miles long by half a mile wide.

THE INTERSECTION of 1st Ave. N. and 12th St. was turned into a lake after a downpour of rain Wednesday morning and this motorist might have been better equipped to cope with the situation in a boat. Water subsided quickly after the rain stopped, but lightning and high winds caused scattered power outages throughout the area. (Daily Press Photo)

Standard Oil Gives City Station, Site

The move to redevelop downtown Escanaba will get a major shot in the arm at 6 p. m. today when Standard Oil presents its service station property at the corner of 11th St. and Ludington St., to the "citizens of Escanaba and Delta County."

Mayor Cecil Chase will receive the deed from M. W. Laug, field sales manager for the Standard Oil division of American Oil Co., in Escanaba.

Value of the 50 by 140-foot lot and building has been estimated at upwards of $30,000.

City Council and members of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Development Committee have suggested that the property be used as a "rest station" for downtown shoppers.

Remodeling Planned

A complete remodeling and landscaping program, probably to include grass, trees and park benches, etc., is planned to transform the area into a public rest stop. City Manager George Harvey said that complete plans for the building and site have not been developed, but pointed out that whatever is done "will be integrated into an overall plan for a more beautiful Escanaba."

Besides Mayor Chase, other members of the City Council—Robert Bink, Edward Cox; Richard Pryal and Miles Du-puie — will participate in the deed presentation ceremony along with members of the city administration and Chamber of Commerce officials.

A joint city-chamber effort is expected to redevelop the site.

Robert Mosenfelder, who heads the Downtown Development Committee, said today that the gift of the service station property "certainly is going to help get downtown redevelopment off the ground."

"The merchants are prepared to participate in development and maintenance of the property," he continued. "It will be a real asset to the community."

To Install Plaque

Laug said that Standard Oil long has been an important part of life of the Upper Peninsula and its residents.

"We are grateful for their support and patronage and this is our way of showing it," he added.

After renovation of the building and site, a bronze plaque inscribed "Presented to the Citizens of Escanaba and Delta County by Standard Oil and its Dealers" will be installed.

The service station had been operated for many years as Fred's Super Service by Fred A. Lancour, Ford River Rd., but it has been closed since last winter.

State Escapees Escape Again

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. — (AP) — Three convicts who escaped from Marquette State Prison Farm earlier this month only to be caught in Sheboygan, Wis. the next day escaped again Wednesday night taking a guard with them.

Sheboygan County officials said the three Michigan men broke out of a county jail taking a jailer with them at gunpoint. The convicts had escaped from the Marquette house of correction and fled to Sheboygan where they were captured July 16.

The escapees were identified as William Edinger, 24 of Flint; Jerry O'Day, 23 of Ypsilanti; and Donald McBride, 19, of Grand Rapids.

The three men took prison guard Charles Pierce, 25, of Plymouth, Wis., with them, escaping in the guard's 1965 white four-door Dodge, authorities said.

Edinger and McBride had been serving time in Marquette for breaking and entering. O'Day was sentenced for assault-less-than-murder.

Crew Taken By Helicopter To Air-Tight Van

screen. Armstrong closed the program with: "To all ... who are listening and watching tonight, God bless you."

Back on earth, those most eagerly awaiting the return of Apollo 11 were the wives of the three spacemen.

All three received phone calls from President Nixon Wednesday, then they got together for a luncheon at a yacht club.

"It's all downhill now," Joan Aldrin told newsmen, clasping her hands in a victory salute.

At the Manned Spacecraft Center, scientists began interpreting data from a seismic device Armstrong and Aldrin left on the moon. And, as is the manner of scientists, there was disagreement.

One geologist bet a case of champagne with another that the instrument recorded a moonquake Tuesday.

If he's right, it could mean the moon is "alive" like the earth, that it has a molten core, has layers of different materials rather than being of uniform composition and probably was born in the same way as earth.

Other scientists connected with the experiment felt the jolt recorded by the seismometer was caused by a large meteoroid striking the surface.

But that's just a minor debate compared with what's ahead when Apollo 11's load of moon rocks reaches the lunar receiving lab—the same building here where the astronauts will be quarantined.

The samples will be carefully analyzed in vacuum chambers and will be handled only by technicians reaching through insulated "glove-ports" and operating mechanical hands.

The 142 scientists involved in the study are to assemble in three months to discuss individual findings.

"That meeting ought to be a hulu," commented one NASA observer.

OLD SOL AND YOU ...

"It's Summer Time and The Living is Easy." This may be true in your case, but here are a few facts concerning scratchy, irritating, yet non-catching Erythema Solare — (Better known as sunburn). A leading dermatologist had this to say:

"Sun ages the skin. Too much of it over long periods destroys the elastic fibers, or connective tissues, and they become degenerated. Those fibers are like rubber bands and hold the skin taut. If you overdo it, even with a tan, the rays get down into the connective tissues."

Although, there are many preparations sold today to help you get a tan or relieve a sunburn, there is no preparation made that will replace good common sense. Remember, summer is far too short to waste recuperating from a bad burn that could have been avoided.

Lake Trout Out Biting Salmon

LANSING (AP) — Lake trout are a better bet for fishermen this week than Coho salmon, reports the State Department of Natural Resources.

The Coho are moving offshore in Lake Michigan. Charter fishermen and those with large boats have had fair success off Saugatuck, Grand Haven and Muskegon, from three to six miles out. The Coho have been taken in 30 to 90 feet of water.

Coho also have proved elusive in Lake Huron. Some have been spotted off Oscoda but they have not been hitting the favorite lures.

Lake trout fishing is reported excellent off Manistee. Many limit takes of two to seven pound trout are being taken in 60 to 80 feet of water.

The same holds true for all areas of the Lake Michigan shoreline from St. Joseph to Charlevoix.

Black River

Black River Harbor in the Upper Peninsula has been a hot spot for lake trout. Good catches have been consistent. An occasional 20-to-25 pound trout has been taken.

The Traverse Bay area has been good for lake trout. Some fine catches have been reported from Crystal Lake, Benzie County.

Perch fishing has been good on Saginaw Bay and the eastern shore of the thumb. Some large perch have been taken from the St. Marys river and the Drummond Island area. Perch fishing has been fair from piers at St. Joseph, on Lake Michigan.

Night Crawlers

Trout fishing has been slow on most streams. Fair success on rainbows and browns has been reported on the Boardman, Platte, Manistee, Pere Marquette, White and Baldwin Rivers.

Traffic Judge Sentences Go-Go

DETROIT (AP) — A buxom go-go dancer was fined $300 Wednesday for violating a police regulation requiring go-go dancers to wear pasties.

Traffic Court Referee John G. Carney told Tyra Lea LaRue, in announcing his decision, "I find you guilty of driving with nothing on your bosom."

Miss La Rue, 5-foot-10, 144 pounds with a 41-28-42 figure, said she thought the regulation was "ridiculous" and her lawyer promised an appeal.

Theodore Manolakas, owner of the bar where Miss LaRue was arrested, said he asked her to dance completely topless to test the constitutionality of the regulation.

Profits Decline For Automakers

DETROIT (AP) — Higher steel and labor prices, coupled with scattered strikes and other factors have pushed two of the nation's major automakers into the uncomfortable position of reporting near record sales plus declines in profits.

General Motors joined Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Wednesday in reporting sharp drops in profits as the 1969 model run nears its end. American Motors is no stranger to the situation, but GM and Chrysler have been having better days.

The world's largest automaker announced that second-quarter earnings declined 17 per cent due partly to a decrease in sales.

GM said net income for the period totaled $448 million, or $1.88 a share for the same quarter a year ago.

In a joint statement, Board Chairman James M. Roche and President Edward R. Cole said that total factory sales of GM cars and trucks fell 8 per cent during the quarter, down to 1,871,000 units from last year's 2,031,000.

Bill Reduces Wordy Bonds

LANSING (AP) — A bill reducing the requirement for publication by a municipality of notice of intent to issue revenue bonds has been signed into law by Gov. William Milliken.

Instead of publishing the entire text of the proposed bond issue, the municipality may only publish the notice of intent plus a statement of the amount of the bond issue.

Other bills signed would:

- Permit second class school districts to temporarily use gifts made for operating purposes for publishing and site purposes.
- Extend indefinitely an act allowing Wayne County school districts in contract with the county for use of the Wayne County Child Development Center.
- Repeal a 1960 act which provided for medical assistance to the aged to come from the federal Kerr - Mills program. The funding now comes under the Medicaid program.

Guard's Mascot Afraid Of Water

MUSKEGON (AP) — The mascot for the Muskegon Coast Guard station won't go near the water.

The mascot, a long-haired cross between a German shepherd and a collie, arrived at the station on an ice floe. Seaman Jerry Wise said he plucked the dog from a chunk of ice floating on Lake Michigan during the winter of 1965.

The station's commanding officer, Capt. Jack G. Lane says the dog, named John Bernard Gubin III after the man supposed to have pioneered the use of hogs in beer, hasn't gone near the water since his rescue.

Lane said John B. has the unofficial rating of "Public Relations Specialist First Class" because he is so well liked by the crew who visit the station. And, Lane said, John B. is the station mascot however inappropriate the selection may be.

While doctors consider the common cold a minor ailment, it accounts for one quarter of the total time lost for illness each year. The average cold lasts from three to seven days and results in a minimum of 180 million work days lost nationally, according to a market research project.

Automakers Awaiting Reuther's Request

DETROIT (AP) — The automakers already anxiously await some inkling of what new goal Walter P. Reuther will shoot for next year in what he indicates will be his last bargaining for his 1.6 million-member United Auto Workers union.

He won a guaranteed annual income last time around, in 1967.

And industry anticipates he'd like to cap his UAW stewardship, stretching back 23 years to 1946, with something else big and new.

But they didn't get it Wednesday. If Reuther has a new and novel goal he refused to disclose it at a news conference at which he indicated anew he expects to step down as UAW president at 65.

He said it was too early to formulate next year's bargaining demands. But three years ago he gave long advance notice a guaranteed annual income would be a must, so the industry could make "the emotional adjustment."

Overtime
He'll be 62 on Sept. 1 — Labor Day this year, incidentally — so if next year's contracts run the customary three years he will have passed 65 before their expiration Sept. 14, 1973.

Our 1970 goal is certain to be the right of a worker to accept or reject overtime. Reuther made that plain at the news conference. It is something he has strived for and lost, just as he had a guaranteed annual income until 1967.

Another, as always, will be higher wages. But Reuther insists, as always, he'll only be asking for the workers' share of savings realized through productivity gains made through automation; not through higher car prices.

Reuther told newsmen the UAW bargains on the basis of a standard 40-hour week and that "in a free society, we say the foreman doesn't have the right to determine how you live your life in your free hours."

Emphasizes Holidays
"Management," he added, "has got to step up to that, because I don't believe the younger workers will put up with it any longer."

In times of low wages, Reuther said workers welcomed overtime, "because they needed it to feed their families," but this was no longer the case.

Reuther also said that "inescapably, technological revolution is going to shorten the work week, but the question is how do we package the extra time to make it more meaningful."

He said he looks with disfavor on a six-hour, five-day week, as some in his union have advocated, adding he had put more emphasis on three-day holidays and had long advocated industrial sabbatical leaves.

Referring to the fact he will be 62 on Sept. 1, Reuther pointed out the union's constitution, as it now stands, requires retirement at age 65, and added: "I helped put it (the requirement) there."

"This union," he continued, "has got to have some reasonable hope of getting young blood in the leadership... otherwise it'll be about yesterday, instead of tomorrow."

Labor Alliance
"It (retirement) will not be a difficult thing to do."

He said he'd have more time to devote to pet projects and community endeavors.

There is speculation he may step over into management of the American Labor Alliance (ALA), a joint venture of the UAW and the Teamsters Union aimed at "getting more movement into the labor movement."

It came about after the UAW's split-away from the AFL-CIO for what Reuther termed foot-dragging in organizing and involvement in such social projects as civil rights.

Reuther told the news conference a committee headed by Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons is working out targets, budgets and tactics for organizing unorganized workers.

Milk-Drinkers Told How To Keep It Cool

LANSING (AP) — Mindful of muggy summer days and sometimes careless consumers, the State Agriculture Department is telling milk-drinkers how best to keep the product cool.

"Proper temperature control is essential in the storage of milk and milk products for longer shelf life," says Director B. Dale Ball as the department prepares to distribute thermometer charts to retail milk outlets across the state.

"We want to remind folks that warm weather can be detrimental to quality," explains Kenneth Feighner, assistant to the chief of the dairy division.

"We hope the retail people will set up the little charts at the point of sale so that consumers can be aware of this," he says, "so they'll remember that when the kids get the milk out of the refrigerator and it's 90 degrees in the kitchen, they've best put the milk away and not leave it on the table."

Prepare Shelves
The department — prepared charts show ideal, caution and danger storage temperatures for fluid milk and such related products as half-and-half and chocolate milk.

The department sets the "ideal" keeping temperature" of milk products at 33-40 degrees Fahrenheit. It urges caution in storing milk between 40 and 45 degrees and says storage above 45 degrees is "dangerous."

Average shelf life at 40 degrees is 10 days, the department says, while storage at 45 degrees reduces shelf life to five days.

The department adds that the purity of Michigan milk is "assured" by constant inspection of milk products "from cow to consumer."

Some 50 Dairy Division inspectors across Michigan check every dairy farm at least once every six months and every dairy bottling plant once every three months, Feighner says.

Inspection
"They look for clean cows, clean milkhouses, clean equipment, proper cooling and general good housekeeping practices," he says. At the dairy plants, the inspectors also check for proper pasteurization.

If by chance a dairy farm fails to meet the inspection standards, the owner is given a specified time in which to comply. "The inspector goes back in about three days to see if things have been corrected," Feighner says. "If not, the farmer's permit to sell milk is taken off the wall until he can meet the reinspection standards."

Now hold Grade A milk selling permits.

Hare Opposing Small Loan Bill

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James Hare has joined a chorus urging Gov. William Milliken to veto the small loan bill passed by the Legislature.

The measure would increase interest rates and the dollar amounts of loans allowed under the Small Loan Act.

Those previously asking Milliken to veto the bill included Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Republican Reps. James Farnsworth of Plainwell and Thomas Ford of Grand Rapids, both members of the House Appropriations Committee.

Hare said he was speaking both as a member of the State Consumer's Council and as head of the State Department, which has a large number of workers in comparatively low paying jobs.

The proposed new law, Hare said, "strikes at the very persons who can afford it the least — the persons who must obtain loans from small loan companies at high rates of interest."

"I'm not aware that any small loan companies have been forced out of business because of the current interest rates," Hare added.

Some of his employees, Hare said, have to resort at times to borrowing money from small loan companies. "I would hate to see these persons hurt financially by higher interest rates," he said.

Governor Asks Ag Labor Review

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked for a complete review of present programs affecting agricultural labor.

Milliken spoke before the first meeting Wednesday of the new Commission on Agricultural Labor, headed by Dr. Daniel Sturt, director of the Michigan State University Rural Center.

The review, Milliken said, should include but not be limited to the following areas of concern. He listed these as:

- Present labor standards as they affect both permanent and migratory agricultural labor in Michigan with an analysis of any weaknesses and recommendations for future standards.
- A study of both present and future needs for rural manpower in Michigan, including the impact of automation.
- "Most migrant workers," the governor said, "are excluded from the legal protection afforded almost every other worker in every other occupation."

More information, Milliken said, is needed to find methods of improving the living and working conditions of these laborers.

Noisy Hound Doesn't Work

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Suburban Parma Heights ice station operator John Huddice dog proved to have a bark worse than his bite. It cost Huddice $100.

After suffering through three burglaries in eight months, Huddice got a nameless, ferocious Norwegian elkhound to use as a watchdog at the station.

A neighbor complained, however, that the dog howled all night while it was locked in the station. Mayor Paul W. Cassidy ordered Huddice to get rid of the dog.

Several days later, Huddice discovered $100 had been taken in an overnight burglary. Cassidy was sympathetic, but said, "Huddice could have gotten a quieter dog."

Man Finances Divorce Suits

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Used car dealer Joe Hargitt has a sideline—he finances divorce suits.

He launched his no-money-down, 30-months-to-pay way of splitting up last week with a newspaper advertisement.

Hargitt, 35, arranges financing to cover legal costs and charges a two per cent fee, or a minimum of $35.

What do the finance companies think of Hargitt's venture?

A spokesman for one of Vancouver's major companies said loans for any purpose—including divorce—are available to anyone, provided the company is satisfied about the borrower's ability to repay.

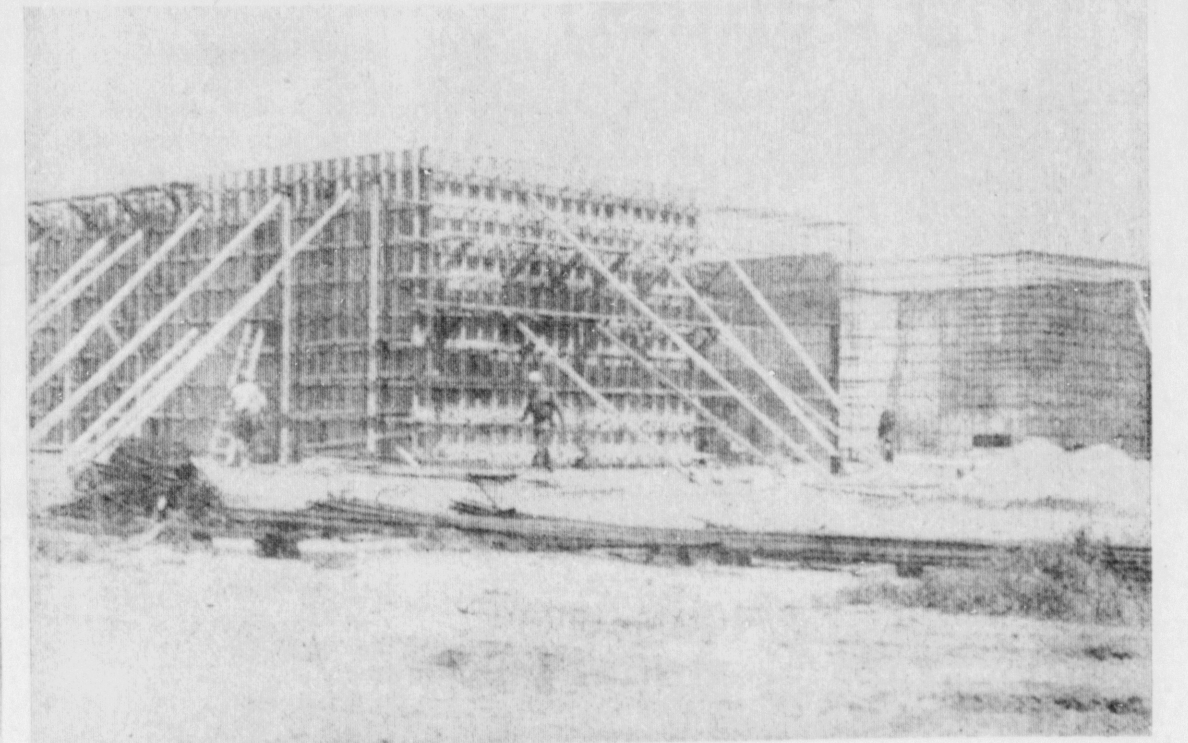

"But we don't advertise loans for things like divorces because it's an extremely controversial area," he said.

Lower Profits

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange reported net stock firms in 1968 lower profits due to rising costs, in spite of record trading.

Profit margins on commission business declined to 4.7 per cent of gross commission income, down from 7.2 per cent in 1967, a survey indicated.

Burn Ice Cream

MARSHALL (AP) — Burning 600 gallons of ice cream is no way to dispose of it, employees of a grocery store in this Calhoun County town have learned.

The fire department had to be called to wash away the sticky mess after store workers tried to dispose of the ice cream, damaged by a refrigerator's failure, by burning it in the store incinerator.

Outdoor Sports

By Bob Gregg

In my recent trips to Escanaba area trout streams, I've found many of my fellow fishermen getting "skunked" on rivers and creeks that I know are just full of fish. What can these fishermen do to increase their catches and thereby make their fishing more enjoyable? They must hunt the wary trout just like any other game animal.

An angler in quest of brook, brown, or rainbow trout in a stream must first of all learn how to "read" that stream. To be able to "read" a stream, you should know the habits of the species you are fishing for. In other words, an angler should know where to find such species of trout in any given stream. He should know that rainbows are usually found in fast water rips, that brown trout love nice steady flowing areas and undercuts in banks, and that brookies are more often found in deep quiet pools, and small creeks where there's a good flow of fast water.

Look for spots in a stream where you would be if you were a trout. To find trout, you must think like a trout. How do you think a trout? Here's a clue. Trout have two basic needs: food and survival. For food, they seek areas or cuts in the stream where the current is constantly washing them down some tasty morsels. For survival, trout need cover, like log jams, boulders, shaded areas, and deep undercuts in the stream bank.

In streams with a lot of fast water, trout will be found hiding in the calmer pockets behind the rocks or boulders that cause the white water. These fish are ever alert to any food that the current might wash by them.

Some of these spots are easy to see, others hard to notice. Often larger rocks still stick right out of the water, other rocks you can hardly see, and still many more only show themselves by the tiny ripples they create on the water's surface. Yet no matter how large or small, they will all hold possible areas for trout.

Trout are commonly found near the heads of pools just behind where the heavy water flows into the slack of the pool. Fish these pool heads high and low until you begin to pick up some fish. By doing this you will find out whether the trout are feeding on the bottom or the top. Sometimes trout are found back in the still-waters of a pool. If you don't get any hits in the front of a pool, fish your lure deep in the still back section of the same pool, you just could get the strike of a lifetime.

After a heavy rainfall trout will often take to the undercuts or banks of a stream to get out of the heavy current. Work these banks hard and you should come up with some good-sized fish. Brown trout are especially susceptible to a big night-crawler fished properly after a heavy rain.

Waterfalls and dams are two excellent spots where trout of all species can be found. The aerated water is loaded with oxygen that trout require, and trout require more oxygen than any other fish. Look for big trout on the sides of white water below the waterfall or dam. Many times, near a waterfall or dam, you will see floating patches of foam. These patches of foam provide shadows and give the trout his needed cover that was mentioned earlier. Twitching a small surface lure through the foam is a good method of picking up some real lunkers.

In fast-moving streams, the V-shaped riff at the lower end of an island is always a good spot for a couple of nice trout. Be sure to cast upstream and bring your bait or lure back with the current. When fishing for trout always bring your bait with the current, because this is the natural way he receives his food.

Other attractors of big trout are snags, beaver dams, brush piles, and fallen trees. Here he has everything he wants, so here he is more likely to be found — especially the big ones. First of all, he has good cover; as the branches, limbs and twigs break up his body outline. Secondly, he has food; for besides the food he receives from the current, he also has insects that are always falling off the twigs and branches into the water below. Fishing among debris such as snags, etc., is sometimes costly because of the tackle that is lost, but the rewards are great.

As you fish more and more for trout, keep a mental record of the certain spots in a stream where you consistently take them. Learn to "read" a stream. Learn to think like a trout. Follow these tips and soon you'll find your catches gradually increasing.

Women Golfers Reach Finale

MARQUETTE—Golfers from Marquette, Dickinson and Iron counties squared off in semi-final matches of the U. P. Women's Golf Tournament at the Marquette Golf and Country Club today.

Linda Uren of Iron Mountain who was heavily favored to become the first woman in the 42-year history of the tournament to win five titles, was paired with Helen Swanson, Ishpeming in one bracket, while Jackie Specker of Marquette was to play Ruth Prokosh of Iron River in the other bracket.

In yesterday's matches, Mrs. Uren defeated Sally Brebner of Marquette 9-7. Helen Swanson upended Martha Cox of Houghton 4-2. Jackie Specker nipped Sally Fontaine of the Escanaba Country Club 3-2 and Ruth Prokosh made the most startling comeback of the day to defeat Edna Repola of Ishpeming.

Mrs. Prokosh was four holes down with four holes left to play yesterday and won the next four holes to tie the match. She then beat her opponent on the first hole of the sudden death playoff.

The championship match was slated to get underway at 1:30 this afternoon.

RETIRE AS LEADER

DENVER (AP)—Lionel Taylor is retiring as the No. 1 pass catcher in the American Football League with 567 receptions. Taylor works for a suburban Denver bank.

Chicago White Sox hurlers completed only 20 games last season. It was the lowest figure in the American League.

BASEBALL MISMATCH — Pint-sized Rickey Faulkner finds himself picked off first base in a big way during a youth baseball league game at Santa Barbara, Calif. Playing first is Danny Herring, one of the world's biggest ballplayers at 315 pounds. Herring, 17, was Santa Barbara High School's second biggest player in football. That team had a 447-pound tackle. ## Bad Hip Bothers McCovey, But Homers Keep Coming

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Willie McCovey's knees aren't bothering him, his hip is.

But there's nothing wrong with his shoulders. You can take it from the Vice-President of the United States.

"He told me I've got the biggest shoulder swing he's ever seen," McCovey said Wednesday after accepting congratulations from Vice President Agnew for his two-home run, four-RBI binge in the National League's 9-3 All-Star Game romp over the American League.

"I'm not really sure what the Vice President meant," said the 6-foot-5 San Francisco slugger, the NL homer leader with 30 who socked a pair in Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium—his first two hits in All-Star competition.

"All I know is I have a bad hip and two bum knees," he said. "They've been bothering me off and on all year."

McCovey's right hip was troubling him Wednesday in the muggy Washington weather and, although he had a crack at setting an All-Star record of three homers, he wasn't unhappy when NL manager Red Schoendienst lifted him from the line-up in the sixth inning.

"As a matter of fact, I was ready to come out," he said. "The hip was bothering me a lot. I think the humid weather has a lot to do with it."

Looney Is Back, Says He Came To Play Ball

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Joe Don Looney, once known as one of the Peck's Bad Boys of pro football, says he has a new outlook and "only wants to make the team and play a lot" for the New Orleans Saints.

In four years Looney was on the roster of four different National Football League teams after quitting the University of Oklahoma squad in his senior year.

The Saints gave Looney another chance at pro football earlier this month and Coach Tom Fears says Joe Don "has a clean slate as far as I'm concerned."

He was signed as a free agent by New Orleans just prior to the opening of training camp here. Now 26, married and the father of a 14-month-old daughter, Looney got out of the Army on July 4th. He spent nine months in Vietnam.

Fears said he is highly impressed so far with Looney.

Looney said he didn't get a chance to run while in Vietnam "except when there were rocket attacks." He explained that a bruised heel which kept him from putting on pads for a few days here came when he was running to a bunker in Vietnam and hit a steel railing.

"Viet Cong rockets were raining down," said Looney. "My legs are really bothering me," he continued. "I don't mind the work, though, because I'm happy to be with the Saints."

He talked freely about his troubles with other pro teams. "I hold no grudges," he said.

Drafted by the New York Giants, Looney said he "doesn't like big cities," and asked Giants Coach Alie Sherman to trade him.

He wound up at Baltimore next and "there were no problems there." The Colts sent him to Detroit and from there he was traded to Washington.

"At both Detroit and Washington I was like a guy who walked into the garage just before the Valentine's Day massacre," said Looney.

Detroit Coach Harry Gilmer and Redskin Coach Otto Graham "were both under pressure and you know they've since lost their jobs," said Looney. "My trouble was that I'm sensitive or was, and I took things too personally. I'm not like that any more."

"The Saints have a real good team," said Looney, adding that he's anxiously awaiting a test under fire Thursday and again Saturday when New Orleans scrimmages the San Diego Chargers.

Highland To Host Tri-Club Tourney

Ladies of the Highland Golf Club are in the midst of preparations for the annual Tri-Club Tournament which will be held on the Highland course Wednesday, July 30.

Women golfers from the Gladstone Golf Club and the Escanaba Country Club have been invited for the event and reservations are to be made by calling Carol Davidson, 786-4273, by July 27. The tournament will be a nine-hole event and will begin at 2 p.m.

Low scorers in last night's action in the Ladies League were Dorothy Lodeen 45, Elaine Nelson 48 and Carolyn Sundquist 49.

Winners in the "Bring a Guest for Golf and Dinner" event were Dorothy Lodeen, Elaine Nelson, Carolyn Nelson, Phyllis Anderson and Armine Sundquist.

Iron Mountain Defeated Again

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — West Seven chalked up its third straight victory Wednesday to become the only unbeaten team in competition in the State Babe Ruth baseball tourney.

West Seven pitcher Jim Murray came away victorious against the unbeaten Midland County team. Murray had two hits and two runs batted in as he pitched a six-hitter to win 3-2.

In the other game Wednesday, Ypsilanti kept a place in the tourney by defeating Iron Mountain, 14-7. Bob McSpadden led the Ypsilanti march with three doubles, which drove in five of the winning runs. Ypsilanti pitcher Pat Sourour gave up only seven hits to Iron Mountain while striking out 10.

AL Seeks New Plan After 9-3 Shelling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American League went back to the drawing board today in search of another plan to win the All-Star Game—with its two biggest stars disagreeing over the reason why the National League has now extended its superiority through seven years.

"They got more stars over there," said Reggie Jackson of the Oakland Athletics after Wednesday's 9-3 loss to the National League.

"We don't have players like they have—like Mays, Aaron and Clemente. And we have no McCovey. And no Banks. And no Marichal. But we have a younger league than they have. Most of our players on the field were younger than theirs."

"So give us time—we'll be there."

Not Better

"I have to admit we needed this game bad for league prestige," said Frank Howard of the Washington Senators. "You know you hear all this stuff about them being better. But I've played in both leagues and I think the American is as big league as the National."

"These things seem to run in cycles. Our league will be back."

Jackson, at 23 representing the AL's younger generation, and Howard, at 33 representing the AL's older generation, were the key players in the American League's plan for ending NL superiority this time around.

That plan called for leading the team with the league's top homer hitters, Jackson, with 37, and Howard, with 34, were the leading elements in a starting unit that statistically had the edge on the National League starters—179 homers to 105.

More Hits

But 2 hours and 38 minutes later when the scorebook showed the 9-3 final score, the National League had hit more homers than the American, 3-2, and had out-hit them, 11-6.

Howard and Bill Freehan of Detroit collected home runs for the Americans, while Jackson failed to get the ball out of the infield in two official trips to the plate. But Willie McCovey of San Francisco hit two for the Nationals and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati one.

If, having lost the home run battle, the Americans decide now that pitching might have to be the answer—then it probably will help next year if Detroit's Denny McLain doesn't have a dentist's appointment.

McLain, Detroit's 14-game winner and the scheduled AL starter, took off in his private plane Tuesday night, after the game was postponed by rain, to have nine teeth capped in Detroit Wednesday Morning.

McLain Late

His flight plan was expected to get him back to Washington in time for Wednesday's rescheduled start, but he did not appear on the American League bench until the National League was batting in the second inning.

He was too late to see the National League collect its first run in the first inning off Mel Stottlemyre on Matty Alou's leadoff single and Howard's error on Hank Aaron's fly ball.

He arrived while Bench was building the National League's lead to 3-0 with his first homer, following a single by Cleon Jones. And he was sent to the bullpen to get ready while the Americans got one back on Howard's homer.

But he still wasn't ready when the third inning opened and all he could do was watch while he warmed up in the bullpen as the National League exploded for five runs on five hits off John "Blue Moon" Odum, including McCovey's first homer.

Ties Record

The Americans got one back in their half on Freehan's homer, and then McLain got his chance—and became the victim of McCovey's record-tying second homer. Only three previous players in All-Star history had hit two in one game—Arky Vaughan in 1941, Ted Williams in 1946 and Al Rosen in 1954.

McCovey's second homer produced the NL's final run—and McLain left for a pinch hitter when the American League

"Feller A Liar," Claims Robinson

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's a damned lie," said Jackie Robinson.

"It happened in San Diego in 1946 and I can prove it," retorted Bobby Feller.

Those were latest barbs in the racial feud between the two baseball Hall of Famers and dealt with Feller's charge that Robinson once held up an exhibition game on a barn-storming tour while demanding more money.

"It's a damn lie and I want you to quote me," Robinson said in a telephone call to The Associated Press Wednesday after he had read Maury Allen's story in the New York Post that the friction between Feller and Robinson started in 1946 when Robinson refused to take the field unless he was paid three times more than anyone else.

Feller, former ace right-hander for the Cleveland Indians, told Allen the exhibition game was against Satchel Paige's All-Stars.

"I told him," Allen quoted Feller "that if he didn't take the field I would call the commissioner. He finally took the field for the same price."

"This is just further proof that Feller hasn't grown up in 23 years," Robinson declared in calling the incident a "damn lie."

Robinson, the first black man to break into the major leagues and who became a star infielder with the Brooklyn Dodgers, said he recalled playing against Feller in an exhibition in 1946 in Los Angeles.

"It was the only time we faced each other and it wasn't with the Satchel Paige All-Stars," Robinson said. "We had our own team. And there was no dispute over money. I remember I got one hit off him."

In West Palm Beach, Fla., where he was at a baseball clinic, Feller told the Pompano Beach Sun-Sentinel that the incident when he said Robinson demanded more money "happened in San Diego in 1946 and I can prove it."

"I had guys like Jim Hegan, Ralph Kiner, Mickey Vernon, Bob Lemon and Stan Musial on my club and 13,000 people were watching the game," the Sun-Sentinel quoted Feller.

"Whatever disagreement Jackie had with his club reflected on his club and me. I didn't want my barnstorming tour or Jackie or baseball to have any adverse reflection cast on them."

"I advised him . . . he re-evaluated the situation. He was reasonable, thought it over and played the game."

"Evidently he's forgotten the incident."

Slow Pitch

Wednesday's Results
Independents 8, River Post 6 came to bat. He retreated to the dressing room, showered and flew off again, heading for Florida and a business deal.

The early bombing, however, had given the fans what they were looking for after three straight years in which the pitchers had completely dominated the hitters as the National League posted 2-1, 2-1 and 1-0 victories.

It also gave the National League a 22-17-1 edge in the 40 games played so far. But Ted Williams, Washington's manager and a coach of the Americans under Smith, reminded everyone all streaks have to end sometime.

Local Firms Lose In Court

MARQUETTE — A judgment of $57,000 against two Escanaba firms has been awarded to Nashua Corp. of Massachusetts in federal court.

The judgment called for $56,000 from Buckbee Products Inc., 2300 20th Ave. N., a label manufacturing firm, and $1,000 from Cloverland Paper Co., 1806 6th Ave. N.

Lowell Sundstrom of Cloverland Paper said the dispute centered around the quality of two carloads of paper Buckbee Products ordered from Nashua. Cloverland Paper Co. acted as the broker in the transaction.

The paper has not been used, Sundstrom said.

Buckbee Products, Inc., went bankrupt last year and its assets were sold to Brown Bridge Mills, Inc., of Troy, Ohio, which presently is operating the plant.

Sundstrom said Cloverland has already paid the $1,000.

Ex-Ironwood Man Charged

HURLEY, Wis. — A former Ironwood resident has been charged with first degree murder in the beating death of a Hurley, Wis., widow.

Leo Demboski, 49, who currently resides in Forest Park, Ill., appeared Wednesday in Iron County (Wis.) District Court before Judge Arne Wicklund who set bail at $25,000 and delayed action until Friday in order to allow time to appoint an attorney for Demboski.

Demboski, a 1940 graduate of Ironwood High School, is charged in the death of Mrs. Delia Walencik, 53, who had been fatally injured by a blow to the back of her head. Her body was found July 14 in a garbage dump near Saxon, Wis.

Bark River Man Gets Five Years In Draft Case

MARQUETTE — A Bark River man was sentenced to five years in federal prison by Judge W. Wallace Kent in federal court Wednesday for a Selective Service Act violation.

Glen D. Stenberg, 21, pleaded guilty to the charge of failing to report to the Selective Service board.

He was granted a stay in the sentence to Aug. 4 to allow him to arrange his personal affairs.

An Ishpeming man was found guilty by a jury and a Crystal Falls man was acquitted in cases involving other Selective Service charges.

George E. Baird, 21, Rte. 1, Ishpeming, was found guilty of violating a dependency deferment clause. Judge Kent suspended sentence and placed him on probation for 30 months with instructions to report to Butterworth Hospital, Grand Rapids, for work.

Theodore R. Kurtz, 21, of Rte. 2, Crystal Falls, was acquitted of draft evasion charges. Religious belief as a member of Jehovah's Witnesses was used by his attorney as his defense.

Mafia Figure Nabbed For Union Kickback

DETROIT (AP) — An alleged major Detroit Mafia figure, Dominic Peter Corrado, was arrested Wednesday by FBI agents on kickback charges involving a million dollar loan from a Teamsters Union pension fund.

Corrado, known as "Fat Dominic," was one of nine persons arrested across the country in connection with the case. The FBI is seeking four other persons.

Another Detroit, former Teamster business agent Samuel John Marroso, was also arrested.

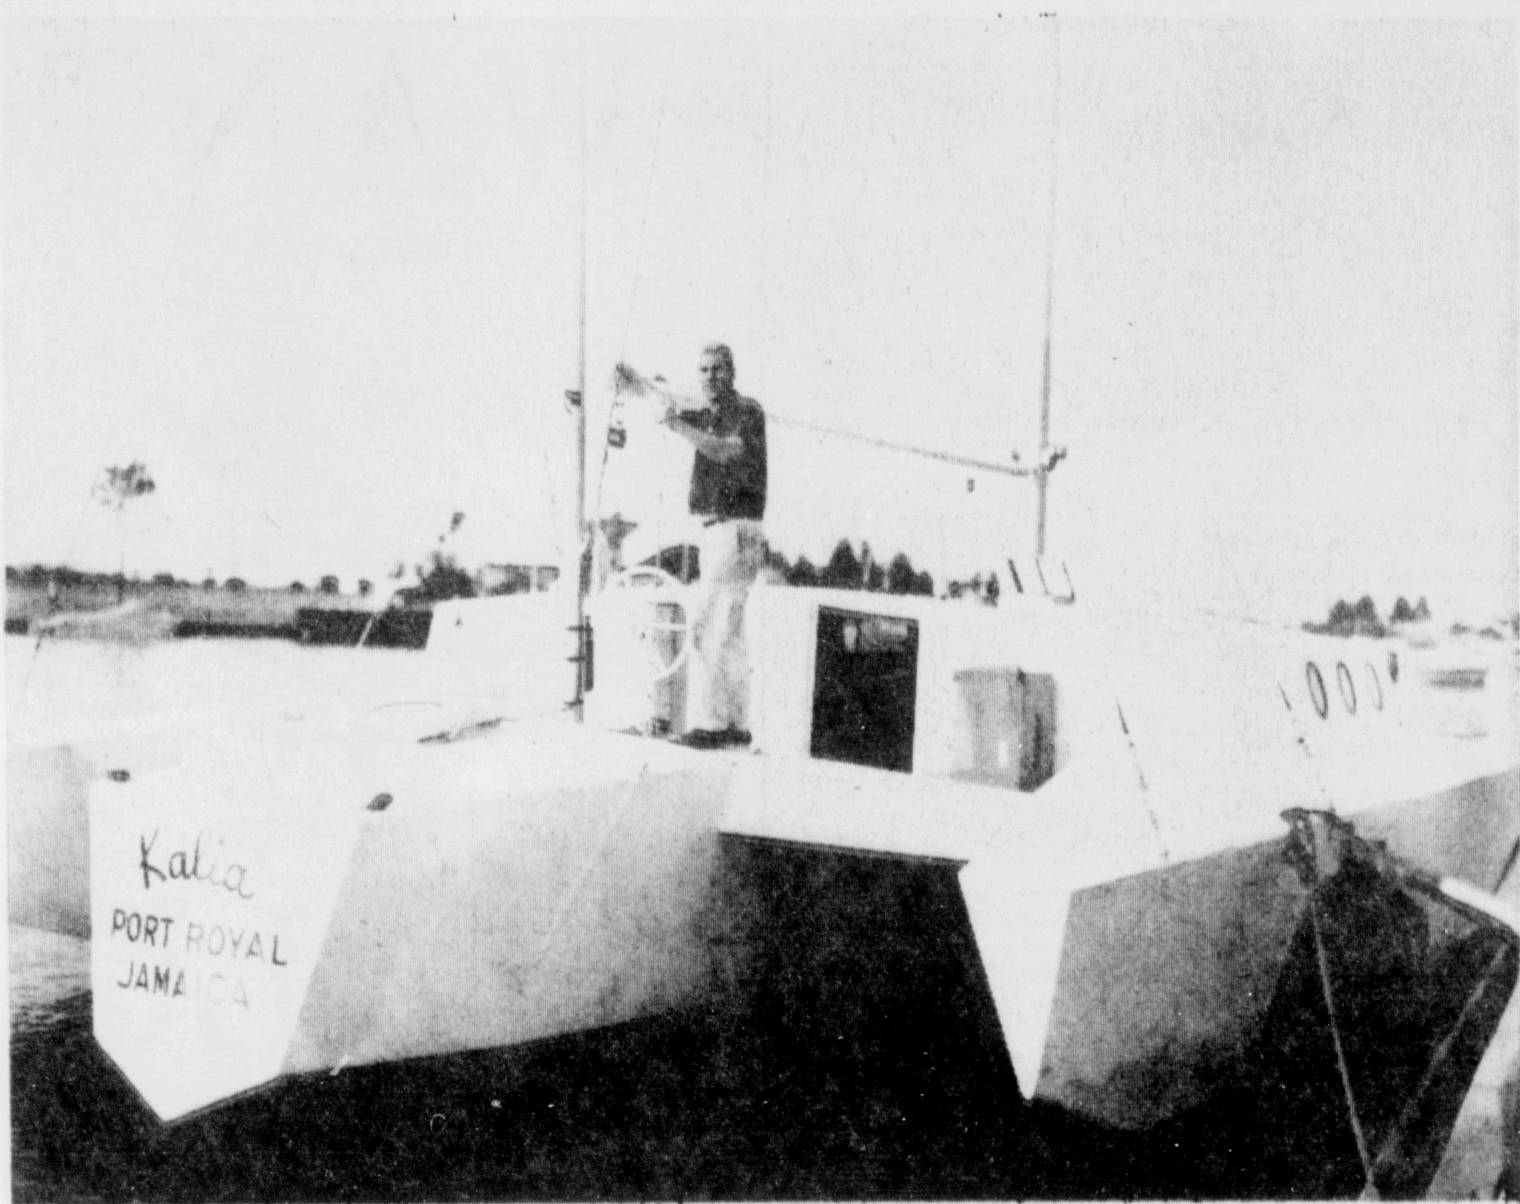

The two were charged with conspiracy, violation of the welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act and the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Act. All three charges carry a penalty of up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Arrested At Home

A hearing on removal to New York to face the charges was set for Aug. 1. The indictments against the two were handed down Tuesday by a grand jury in New York.

Both were arrested at their homes and arraigned before Federal District Judge Fred W. Kaess. They were released under $25,000 bond each.

The incident bringing the indictments and arrests, according to the FBI, was a loan sought by the Mid-City Develop-

WILLIAM KAMERER stands aboard his labor of love. The "Kalia," a triple-hulled craft known as a "trimaran," is shown docked at the Escanaba Yacht Harbor in preparation for this evening's Venetian Night. Kamerer built the "Kalia" with the help of his first mate, Bob Kortved, and his sons.

It took over two years of hard work to get the craft in shape for a proposed run to Jamaica where she will be operated as a tourist charter boat. Kamerer lives at Soo Hill. (Daily Press Photo)

Israel Downs 9 Egyptian MIGs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli air and ground forces brought down nine Egyptian warplanes today in renewed fighting along the Suez Canal, military sources reported.

The action followed a threat from President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt that Arab forces are ready now to win back territories lost in the six-day war of June 1967.

The downing of nine Soviet-built Egyptian warplanes would be the biggest single day's bag of Arab aircraft by the Israelis since the 1967 hostilities.

Military sources in Tel Aviv said Israeli jets shot down three of the Egyptian planes, Hawk ground-to-air missiles brought down three more and anti-aircraft fire got the others.

As the jets fought, Israeli and Egyptian guns blazed across the 103-mile canal which now divides Egypt from the Sinai Peninsula, seized by the Israelis in the June 1967 war.

The Israelis said their jets attacked Egyptian gun positions in the third air strike across the canal since Sunday.

Up to now the Israelis had claimed to have shot down 33 Soviet-built Egyptian planes for the loss of five Israeli warplanes since the 1967 war.

Nasser made his threat to go on the offensive in a speech in Cairo Wednesday.

Commenting on the speech, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan of Israel told newsmen: "The Egyptians may renew the war and bomb Tel Aviv."

He added that Nasser apparently believes a new war with Israel already has begun.

Dayan stressed, however, he does not think a full-scale war is imminent this summer. But he said Israel would have to be "prepared for everything Nasser said he might do."

Boat To Sail For Jamaica

After spending countless, laborious man-hours and thousands of dollars for equipment and supplies, Bill Kamerer has finally finished the boat of his dreams.

He has built himself a triple-hulled sailing ship called a "trimaran" on which he hopes to run tourist pleasure boat charters out of Kingston, Jamaica.

"A fellow named Arthur Piver originated the design back in 1950," Kamerer said, adding that the safety of similar craft has been thoroughly tested, and that several "tri-marans" have sailed around the world. He stated that the boat was a very stable craft, even in rough weather.

Kamerer said that building the boat was a lot of hard work.

To Sail In Fall

"The boat was built by myself, Bob Kortved, my first mate, and my two sons, James, 16, and Bill, Jr., 15, over a period of two years at Dale Vinette's north shore harbor," Kamerer said. "As a crew, we spent up to 16 hours a day, seven days a week, putting the ship together."

"I plan to take the boat across Lake Michigan, through the Illinois Canal at Chicago, down the Mississippi to New Orleans, and then to the Florida Keys where I plan to charter till the end of the hurricane season, at which time I will proceed to Jamaica," he said.

Kamerer, his wife, Meredith, a teacher at the Lemmer School, his sons and Kortved plan to start their journey sometime this fall.

What type of service will Kamerer run in Jamaica?

"First of all, I plan to cater to tourists who would like a short two or three hour pleasure cruise," he answered. "I also have several contracts to take out skin and scuba divers who treasure hunt for old artifacts in Port Royal Harbor."

"Port Royal is directly across the bay from Kingston," he said, adding that its bay has long been famous for the large amount of pirate vessels that have sunk in its waters.

Permit Problem

Kamerer said it took over 13 months for him to get a permit from the Jamaican Government so that he could work a charter service out of Kingston.

"They're kind of reluctant to give out charter permits to anyone except their own people," he said.

Kamerer and his wife, Meredith, a special education teacher at the Lemmer School in Escanaba, have lived in the Soo Hill area for the past three years.

"The tourist season in Jamaica runs from November to June," he said. "We plan to spend June to October in British Columbia," Kamerer said.

If anyone wants to take a look at Kamerer's labor of love, she's currently anchored in the Escanaba Yacht Harbor. The ship is valued at $42,000, he said.

and stray farther from the LM than planners previously believed could be done safely.

"They had more mobility and were able to move about with more ease than expected," said Robert R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, about Armstrong and Aldrin.

Apollo 12 also will carry a more elaborate set of scientific experiments to leave on the lunar surface to listen for moonquakes, see if the moon has a magnetic field and study radiation streaming from the sun.

The crew has not been named for Apollo 13, but it is expected to be commanded by Alan B. Shepard Jr., America's first man in space. Flying with him probably will be Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa, two rookie astronauts.

Uren, Specker In Golf Finals

MARQUETTE — Linda A. Uren of Iron Mountain and Jackie Specker of Marquette advanced to the finals of the Upper Peninsula Women's Golf Tournament by winning matches this morning. They were scheduled to clash in the championship match at 1:30 p. m. today.

Senators Quiet On Teddy's Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate colleagues are being unusually tight-lipped about the political consequences of Edward M. Kennedy's weekend accident which took the life of a woman riding in his car.

With the exception of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who has said the whole affair could have happened to anyone, usually loquacious senators generally have refused to discuss the matter, even on a relatively secure off-the-record basis.

Even Republicans, who see Kennedy as a potential opponent for the presidency, have been reluctant to talk about the matter privately, much less publicly.

Those few senators willing to discuss the incident anonymously generally seem to agree that Kennedy's political future is not in his own hands and indicate they are withholding judgment until he explains the affair more fully.

Mystery Ship Enters Harbor

MENOMINEE — The "Mystery Ship" left the berth she had occupied for the last century Wednesday, and this morning occupied a berth in Menominee Harbor.

The ship, a two-masted schooner, is believed to have sunk in Green Bay over 100 years ago.

Today's final move climaxed nearly two years of work for Frank Hoffman, discoverer of the ship and head of divers working on the operation; Don Bichler, head of surface-salvage operations; and Harold Derusha, Marinette businessman who financed the salvage job.

Hoffman, a skin diver, found the ship while freeing commercial fishing nets in Nov. 1967. The 110-foot vessel lay under 105 feet of water at a list of 30 degrees to starboard.

Bichler and his crew had spent the past week placing long steel cables under the hull in preparation for the big move.

Working hard on the big winches used to crank up the cable, Bichler said the ship finally pulled free of the bottom at 4 a. m. Wednesday morning. "It was hard to break the suction, but we finally did it," Bichler said.

An early morning squall which howled across the bay about 3:30 a. m. was credited with helping the ship break lose from the bottom.

By dawn, the ship had been raised to five feet off the bottom.

tom. The lift was in full progress.

Electric drills which were being used to work the winches were frequently overheating so it was decided to lift the boat by muscle power. The crew worked laboriously to bring the 30 or so tons of sunken ship to the surface.

About 10 a. m., the ship was 20 feet off the bottom, but another squall came up, tossing five foot waves, and driving the crew off the deck.

The squall subsided, and by noon the ship had been raised to the point where it was only 45 feet below the surface.

At this point, the barge began hauling the ship toward Menominee. Soon the deck of the vessel was only 20 feet below the surface.

The self-propelled barge, helped by the tug Rescue Ranger, hauled the old schooner to a new berth on the Menominee River this morning.

Marine historians are eagerly awaiting a look at the "Mystery Ship" in order to positively identify her. They expect to find the name of the vessel carved on her main beam.
